

With the exception of Joseph Priestley, the prints of famous chemists in the Chair's Office are all signed, and we understand that the signatures are original.